EDITORIAL MISSION

The multi-award-winning reference magazine is sold on a paid-for subscription basis to high net worth individuals, producers, MWs and the trade who share a consuming passion for wine. It is published quarterly in March, June, September and December and is also distributed in British Airways First and Business Lounge as well as being sold at retail outlets and on subscription in more than 30 countries.

Extensively and purposefully illustrated with fine-art-quality images and printed on heavy coated paper, each 216-page issue of The World of Fine Wine resembles a large-format paperback book more than a magazine. Its list of contributors reads like a who's who of the world of wine.

Exclusive coverage of every aspect of fine wines is supplemented by features on related social, historical, cultural and lifestyle issues, making each issue a very substantial read: indeed our editorial to advertising ratio is higher than that of any comparable consumer publication.

CONTENT

What makes The World of Fine Wine different

The World of Fine Wine magazine, published quarterly, was launched in 2004 and now has subscribers in more than 30 countries around the world. The biggest distinguishing features are the range of the subject matter and the depth of the treatment. The World of Fine Wine publishes articles ranging from the Ancient Chinese or Greeks or Romans right up to the latest en primeur releases. Authoritative writers are given the space to treat their subject seriously with 10,000-word features on big ideas.

Tastings are organized differently. The World of Fine Wine makes every effort to source all of the best bottles, regardless of price or rarity. There are only three tasters for each tasting – an acknowledged “specialist” on the subject and two experienced “generalists” – selected from a fixed panel of about 30. This allows all comments and scores to be attributed individually and reproduced in full. The style is scholarly but not academic, serious but not stuffy. The articles assume a certain level of wine knowledge, and will certainly be of interest to professionals, but are also accessible by any intelligent and interested lover of wine anywhere in the world.

TESTIMONIALS

It has been recognized at the Louis Roederer International Wine Writers' Awards as International Wine Publication of the Year in every year the category was awarded (in 2010, 2011, and 2012). Since then The World of Fine Wine contributors have won Louis Roederer awards for their work in The World of Fine Wine every year.

The World of Fine Wine Editorial Board is comprised of the world's most influential authorities on wine, including Hugh Johnson OBE, Michel Bettane, Thierry Desseauve and Professor Ann Noble.

One third of the official Tasting Panel is Master of Wine, Master Sommelier or World Champion Sommelier, and all are highly respected and sought-after international tasters.

"The World of Fine Wine takes wine journalism in a new, more sophisticated direction. It is not a consumer magazine, but the first cultural journal of the wine world. It acknowledges that wine-lovers have other interests, too, and the same high standards in whatever they do."
Hugh Johnson OBE

"I absolutely adore your publication, and would be honored to contribute to it in any way."

"Congratulations on the wonderful magazine; it is certainly the most literate wine magazine out there. Keep up your high standards."

Randall Graham

Owner-winemaker Bonny Doon Vineyards, Santa Cruz, CA

"The World of Fine Wine is by far the best wine magazine in the world. It's scholarly, opinionated, well-written and a delight to read. It's also the only magazine I bother to keep. I come back to individual pieces again and again for enlightenment and entertainment. In these days of simple answers, scores out of 100 and branded pap, The World of Fine Wine stands out as a publication that dares to take wine seriously."

Tim Atkin MW

Award-winning wine writer

"Always has many things worth reading."

Eric Asimov

The New York Times

"In a world where wine is so often reduced to clipped phrases, scores and sound bites, The World of Fine Wine magazine puts wine in the widest cultural context and, above all, makes a refreshingly good read."

Richard Mayson
